Center for the Advancement of American Architecture at Fallingwater

We were inspired by ancient petroglyphs carved into the landscape by Native tribes from the region. Our design seeks to sculpt the ground plane like the first Americans sculpted their landscape. The three main structures aim to create a community with the existing elements on the site. The buildings surround a courtyard that opens to the Northwest, signaling Fallingwater, a monument to American architecture.
Legend
1. Farmhouse
2. Barn
3. Gallery
4. Education
5. Retail
Site Walk

Parking

Entry Gardens

Front Entrance

Exterior Walk

Stepped Terrace

View From Field
Additional Renderings

Interior Perspective View

Key Element

Interior Perspective View

Construction Detail